

Garuda Indonesia, Singapore Airlines increase services between Jakarta, Singapore

- A Monitor Report

Date: 16 November, 2024

Singapore : Garuda Indonesia and Singapore Airlines (SIA) will boost flight frequencies between Indonesia's Jakarta and Singapore in the fourth quarter of 2024, increasing capacity and enhancing connectivity between the two South East Asian hubs.

SIA will operate eight daily services from November 22, 2024, up from six currently. Garuda Indonesia will expand its daily flights from four to six starting December 1, 2024.

The airlines will extend their codeshare arrangement to include these new services. Currently, they codeshare on flights between Singapore and four Indonesian cities (Denpasar, Jakarta, Medan, and Surabaya), as well as routes between Singapore and London (Heathrow) and Mumbai. By December 1, 2024, the carriers will operate 390 weekly codeshare services, including 362 between Singapore and Indonesia.

In the first quarter of 2025, Garuda Indonesia and Singapore Airlines will deepen their frequent flyer programme partnership by allowing GarudaMiles and KrisFlyer members to earn and redeem miles on codeshare routes.
