

PIA wants pilots, cabin crew for its ATR aircraft

-A Monitor Report

Date: 16 September, 2023

Karachi : Pakistan's struggling flag carrier, Pakistan International Airlines (PIA), is requesting applications for pilots and cabin crew on contractual terms. The airline has multiple vacancies open for the Captain position for its ATR aircraft. The airline is also searching for cabin crew for a variety of aircraft and routes.

The national carrier has advertised the positions on its website and wants interested candidates to apply no later than September 25.

PIA has announced its intention to recruit ten pilots for the position of Captain on the ATR aircraft.

The carrier operates a total of six ATRs, primarily on its domestic routes. These include three ATR 42-500s and three longer ATR 72-500s.

The position also states that a minimum of 1,000 hours must be on a P1/P2 turbojet, and the remaining 500 must be as P1 on a multi-jet engine aircraft.
