

Turkish Airlines resumes flights to Aleppo

- A Monitor Report

Date: 17 August, 2025

Istanbul : Turkish Airlines has resumed its flights to Aleppo, which were suspended as of April 2012. Following the launch of flights to Damascus in January 2025, with the addition of Aleppo flights, the number of destinations that Turkish Airlines serves in Syria has increased to two.

Turkish Airlines operates round-trip flights between Istanbul Airport and Aleppo International Airport three days a week on Wednesdays, Fridays, and Sundays from August 1, 2025. Starting on August 19, Aleppo flights will be operated five times per week, and beginning September 1, they will be operated daily.

Commenting on the Aleppo flights, Turkish Airlines SVP Sales (Region II) Mahmut Yayla said, "Aleppo is one of the most important cities in the region with its historical and cultural richness. With the reopening of our Aleppo route, we aim to strengthen economic and social ties between the two countries. As Turkish Airlines, we continue to increase our flight connections while offering our guests more travel options."

Turkish Airlines is offering travel opportunities on Istanbul-Aleppo-Istanbul route starting from USD 299.
