-A Monitor Report

Date: 17 June, 2023

Ho Chi Minh City : Vietjet won the 'Best Low-Cost Airline Onboard Hospitality 2023' for the first time and the 'Best Ultra Low-Cost Airline 2023' award for the 5th consecutive year from AirlineRatings.com, the world's renowned airline safety and product rating website.

The airline was recognised for its newly launched SkyBoss Business class with all priorities and premium services on wide-body aircraft, including the comfy leather flatbeds and incredible on-board cuisine experience.

On the occasion, Geoffrey Thomas, Editor-in-Chief, AirlineRatings.com, "Vietjet has been recognised for its constant efforts on diversifying new and quality aviation products. The airline has put the A330 wide-body aircraft into operation, offering the premium class of SkyBoss Business, which enhances the seamless pre-flight, in-flight, and post-flight's experiences of flyers. Those services are pioneering and revolutionary for a low-cost airline."

AirlineRatings has also rated Vietjet at seven-star level, the highest ranking for aviation safety in the world and the world's Top 10 safest and best low-cost airlines for many years.

It was voted as the 'Value Airline of the Year' in 2022 also by AirlineRatings.com.

These major awards inspire the airline to keep up with the flight network and service expansion to bring more joyful and affordable connectivity while ensuring the excellent services performed by dedicated and professional cabin crew.

The AirlineRatings.com's "Airline Excellence Awards" has been hosted since 2013 to honour the world's best airlines. In 2023, awards were judged by five editors with decades of industry experience, combines major safety and government audits, with key criteria that include: fleet age, passenger reviews, profitability, investment rating, product offerings and others.
