

China's SF Airlines adds another B767-300 freighter to fleet

A Monitor Report

Date: 16 September, 2022

Beijing : SF Airlines, a subsidiary of China's biggest private logistics and shipping company (SF Express), has recently received its latest cargo aircraft, increasing the size of its all-cargo freighter fleet to 75 units.

The newest member of the SF Airlines fleet is a Boeing 767-300 freighter, and it is the 7th cargo aircraft being introduced into the SF Airlines' fleet this year.

This latest 767-300 freighter has already started commercial operation on the Beijing-Shenzhen route, to help improve the air freight efficiency and quality between the two cargo hubs in Southern China and Northern China, said the cargo carrier.