Thai cuisine or to be more precise, East Asian cuisine, is one of the most popular ones in Dhaka, as it is globally. The texture-taste-flavor trio is very prominently and uniquely present in these cuisines. These features are the stellar ones, which continue to make these foods more popular each day.

Baan Busaba is the newest addition to this ever-growing bunch of restaurants, which illuminate the city's dine-out scenario. It made its debut in August this year. The place is abuzz with authentic Oriental vibes. The décor, coupled with the cuisine, mirrors the theme very beautifully.

The menu is a delicious combination of soups -n-salads-n-seafoods, coupled with staples like rice and noodles. The popular appetizers include Roasted Duck Spring Roll, Chicken Larb, Sizzling Grilled Cuttlefish etc. Dimsum options feature a number of prawn and chicken items-Cheung Fun, Chicken Siumai, Steamed Prawn with Lime Sauce, are few of the favorites.

The meat dishes are segmented into beef, chicken, lamb, and duck. Typical preparations include grills, curries, stir-fries, and, of course, roasts for the ducks. Soups are an integral element of any Oriental cuisine, especially Thai. Tom Yum Goong, Tom Kha Gai, Seafood Mala Soup are few which need mentioning in this regard.

Red Curry, Green Curry, Penang Curry are the main curry dishes. Veg-lovers also have a couple of tasty treats to choose from. Like-Bokchoi Bean Curry, Kimchi Mapo Tofu, and Stir-fried Morning Glory etc.

East Asiandesserts are unique blends of light sweet and a typical regional fruit -be it mango or coconut or lychee. Sticky Rice with Mango, Bua Loy, Thai Cream Brulé, Milo Brule are Baan Busaba's signature sweet treats, which are a must try. One can pair the meal with drinks like Fresh Juice, Mocktails-n-Smoothies, or Iced Tea to relish the delicious dishes.

Baan Busaba, the literal meaning of which is Home of the Flower, is a place filled with warmth and beauty of the world- famous Thai hospitality. The stylish décor has shades of deep green as the key color code. Intricate art pieces, paired with murals and portraits are style statements of this place. The controlled lighting, that cloaks the different segments and corners of the restaurant, adds to the ambience of the place.

Located at Hamid Tower in Gulshan 2, the place is open for lunch and dinner, with a provision to accommodate around 90 guests. Baan Busaba is a place that has all the culinary delights - spanning from bustling Bangkok to cool Kyoto, in one premise. All these regional flavors and tastes are wrapped with utmost care and creativity to sate the food-lover's palette.

Adorned with all its beautiful features - this is indeed one of the few places in Dhaka, where food for both the body and the soul are served with all the warmth and wonder.
