Date: 16 October, 2025

Dhaka: If you are a steak lover in Dhaka, there is no better time to indulge. InterContinental Dhaka’s signature fine dining restaurant, Amber Room, is turning up the heat this October with an extraordinary festival — “Meats and Beats Unlimited”, a carnivore’s dream paired with an electric atmosphere of music and style.

Running from October 16 to 25, this limited-time celebration of flavor and sound promises a dining experience unlike any other. Guests are invited to feast on unlimited premium steaks, complemented by a rich variety of sides, sauces, and desserts — all for BDT 6500 net per person, from 6:30 pm to 10:30 pm. To make it even more irresistible, diners can enjoy a Buy-One-Get-One offer when paying through bKash (valid once per person during the campaign), as well as other bank cards.

Inside Amber Room, the ambiance hums with energy — the beats set the tone, while the aroma of sizzling steaks fills the air. The live carving stations are a highlight, showcasing prime ribs, brisket, and short ribs cooked to perfection. From tenderloin and ribeye to T-bone, striploin, brochette, kebab, and juicy patties, every cut tells a story of craftsmanship and quality.

Balancing the richness of the meats are an array of thoughtfully curated sides — from mashed and jacket potatoes to grilled vegetables, Yorkshire pudding, and penne pasta in tomato cream sauce. A medley of sauces, including hollandaise, mushroom, pepper, BBQ, chimichurri, and a delightful grilled pineapple salsa, lets diners personalize their plates to perfection.

For a refreshing contrast, the cold station features a selection of salads, cold cuts, and appetizers, while the soup station offers comforting warmth with homemade bread rolls and butter. And of course, no meal at InterContinental is complete without something sweet — an elegant dessert spread of international and local treats, with the red velvet cake standing out as an indulgent favorite.

As the evening unfolds, the “Beats” portion of the festival comes alive — with music setting a vibrant rhythm that enhances every bite. It is not just a meal; it is an experience that celebrates good taste, great company, and the finer things in life.

Whether you are planning a night out with friends, a special date, or simply looking to treat yourself, Meats and Beats Unlimited is the city’s most delicious event this season — where the sound of sizzling steaks meets the pulse of great music.
