

Air France, Delta partner for shuttle service

- A Monitor Desk Report

Date: 03 June, 2022

Beginning this month, Air France and Delta Air Lines partner to offer hourly flights departing daily from New York City's John F. Kennedy International Airport to Paris' two international airports: Paris – Charles de Gaulle Airport and Paris – Orly Airport.

All nine flights offer at least three classes of service: business class equipped with lie-flat beds, Air France Premium Economy/Delta Premium Select and economy/main cabin. The nine flights comprise six daily Air France flights from JFK to CDG and one daily flight from JFK to ORY. Delta will operate two daily flights from JFK to CDG.

Air France will operate flights with Boeing 777-300s and Airbus A350s, and Delta will operate flights with A330s. Three daily Air France flights will also offer La Premiere, the airline's first class, providing guests with a lie-in flat bed of more than 6 feet, Michelin-starred menus, a carefully curated wine and Champagne list, and a wide choice of entertainment.
