SpiceJet airline planes may soon get the benefit of broadband internet services. The company's chairman and CMD Ajay Singh said that the airline will soon introduce this in its aircraft.

In the next few months, the Boeing-737 MAX aircraft in the company's fleet will start getting this facility.

According to SpiceJet's website, the airline has a fleet of 91 aircraft, of which 13 are MAX aircraft and 46 are older versions of Boeing-737 aircraft.

In an email to employees on the 17th anniversary of the airline, the CMD said that SpiceJet is flying with more passengers on a monthly basis and it is expected to increase in the coming months.
