Dubai Crown Prince Sheikh Hamdan bin Mohammed bin Rashid Al Maktoum lauded this development, saying,

“This achievement is the result of visionary leadership and strong collaboration between the public and private sectors. We are committed to maintaining this exceptional growth momentum,” he was quoted as saying as per the statement.

“Through strategic innovation, infrastructure development, talent acquisition, and market diversification, we will continue to enhance Dubai’s competitiveness, attract more international visitors, and enhance tourism’s role as a key driver of economic growth,” he added.

The significant growth in tourism is underpinned by an increasing level of investment and wealth flowing into the Gulf, as well as year-round sporting, art and professional events, as well as marketing efforts.

Helal Saeed Almarri, Director General of the Dubai Department of Economy and Tourism (DET) said, “Through careful planning and dynamic, agile policy implementation, Dubai has successfully navigated global economic and geographic headwinds to achieve record-setting growth in tourism for a second consecutive year. This achievement is not an isolated milestone but a foundational pillar of Dubai’s diversified growth strategy,” as per the statement.

Issam Kazim, CEO of the Dubai Corporation for Tourism and Commerce Marketing (DCTCM) added, “These collaborations have not only intensified our international efforts, but also made Dubai the destination of choice for new and returning visitors, with an increasing number of them finding the city appealing to relocate to, on a more permanent basis,” as per the press release.

“A powerful sense of community among the almost 200 nationalities living in Dubai is also seeing more residents advocate for the city, inviting and hosting their friends and family to experience it for themselves.

This development builds on Dubai’s ranking as the number one city globally for FDI into tourism, among other sectors, according to the Financial Times Ltd's 'fDi Markets' data for H1 2024, and the announcement of key infrastructure projects, such as the expansion of the Al Maktoum International Airport (DWC).

These efforts also align with the goals of D33, which aims to double the size of Dubai's economy by 2033.

Dubai International Airport (DXB) was also crowned the world's leading airport, with 92.3 million passengers passing through in 2024.
