Dhaka: EgyptAir Cargo has signed a new partnership agreement with South Korea's Asiana Airlines. Under the agreement, EgyptAir Cargo will provide Asiana Airlines' inbound and outbound shipment with storage and handling services at its cargo complex in Cairo.

According to Captain Ehab El-Tohami, Chairman and CEO of EgyptAir Cargo, their successful technical and commercial proposal which adhered to the highest global standards of quality and customer service secured the tender for managing Asiana's cargo services.

The deal was facilitated by a team led by Hisham Alioa, Head of Cargo Operations, alongside Mohamed Rashid Soraya, General Manager of Cargo Complexes and Mazen Fikry Saleh, Ground Service Contracts Supervisor from EgyptAir Cargo.

The three-year agreement reinforces Cairo International Airport's position as a key hub for air cargo. It also offers EgyptAir Cargo an opportunity to expand its client base by providing major international airlines with integrated high-quality cargo services.

The partnership is expected to improve handling and storage operations, ensuring the smooth flow of goods between South Korea, Egypt and the wider region.

The collaboration also aligns with EgyptAir Cargo's strategy to enhance its operational capabilities and customer service, while strengthening its competitive standing regionally and globally, said reports.
