Date: 05 December, 2024

Dubai: Emirates has announced plans to deploy its retrofitted Boeing 777 between Dubai and Vienna starting from 3 January 2025, making Vienna the fourth city in the airline's European network to receive its enhanced, four-class Boeing 777 aircraft.

With the introduction of the retrofitted Boeing 777 on flights to Vienna, Emirates will further serve the city with its best-in-class products including its award-winning Premium Economy, as well as refreshed interiors and enhanced cabins across other classes. The four-class Boeing 777 features 8 First Class suites, 40 Business Class seats in 1-2-1 configuration, 24 spacious Premium Economy seats and 256 ergonomically designed Economy seats.

As part of Emirates' largest known fleet retrofit project, the airline has so far rolled out 10 upgraded Boeing 777 aircraft into service, currently flying to Geneva, Zurich, Brussels, Haneda, Riyadh, Kuwait, Dammam and Chicago.

Emirates currently serves Austria with two daily flights operated by a mix of Boeing 777s and A380s, offering over 1,000 daily seats between Dubai and Vienna. The airline launched its services to Vienna in 2004.
