

Emirates to double its flight frequency to Algeria

- A Monitor Desk Report

Date: 21 April, 2022

Dubai: In response to growing passenger demand for air travel, Emirates will double its flights between Algiers and Dubai from two to four weekly, starting 1 May 2022.

Emirates will utilise its Boeing 777-300ER aircraft between Algiers and Dubai, and the new flights will operate on Saturdays and Sundays, in addition to the current Tuesday and Thursday services.

Emirates is also the only airline serving Algeria with private, enclosed First Class cabins, offering premium customers an enriched experience across every touch point of the journey.

Emirates offers unmatched culinary experience in the skies with regionally inspired multi-course menus developed by a team of award winning chefs complemented by a wide selection of premium beverages. Customers can relax with more than 5,000 channels of carefully curated global entertainment content featuring movies, TV shows, music, podcasts, games, audio books and more with ice, Emirates' in-flight entertainment system.

Emirates now operates three flights a day to Dhaka and only airline to offer first class service. The airline's present global network covers over 130 destinations.
