

Emirates to fly to Madagascar from September

- A Monitor Desk Report

Date: 19 June, 2024

Dubai: Emirates will launch flights to Madagascar from 3 September 2024, offering more choice and connectivity for travelers. The four-weekly flights between Dubai (DXB) and Antananarivo (TNR), will operate via a linked service with the Seychelles.

Boosting international travel to and from Madagascar, the flight times have been scheduled to optimise connections to and from key points in Europe, the Far East, West Asia and the Middle East/GCC. Flights will operate on Tuesday, Thursday, Saturday and Sunday.

The Dubai- Antananarivo route will be served by the Boeing 777-300ER, with 8 First Class suites, 42 Business Class seats and 310 seats in Economy.

Tourism is a key pillar in Madagascar's economy, contributing to the creation of thousands of employment opportunities that support the country's goal to serve one million tourists by 2028. It is the world's fourth largest island. Colloquially referred to as Treasure Island, it is home to three World Heritage UNESCO sites.
