Abu Dhabi: UAE's national carrier Etihad Airways unveiled its summer 2025 schedule, with a double-daily debut on many top European destinations.

The new schedule is now open for booking and offers increased flight frequencies and convenient 2 pm departures to many European destinations, the airline said in a statement.

Etihad Airways is boosting its services to popular European destinations, offering year-round double-daily flights between Abu Dhabi and major cities such as Paris, Milan, Rome, Manchester, Frankfurt, Munich, Zurich, Barcelona, and Madrid. Additionally, seasonal flights to Malaga will increase to five times per week. Flights to Bali will be upgraded daily after massive customer demand and Sydney flights will grow to 10 per week.
