

Malaysia Airlines' first A330neo rolls out of paint shop

- A Monitor Desk Report

Date: 18 July, 2024

Dhaka: Malaysia Airlines' first A330neo rolled out of Airbus paint shop in Toulouse recently with the carrier's signature Malaysia flag livery.

Next, the aircraft will be equipped with Rolls-Royce Trent 7000 engines and to undergo performance tests in preparation for its maiden flight.

Furthermore, all cabin systems will be tested, including comprehensive checks of air flow and air conditioning, lighting, galleys, lavatories, seating and in-flight entertainment systems.

Airbus will also conduct advanced general performance tests to ensure the aircraft meets all specifications and is ready for delivery.

Malaysia Airlines will be receiving its first A330neo in 3Q2024 and will serve routes across Asia, Oceania and the Middle East with it.
