Dhaka: Qatar Airways has announced an expanded winter schedule, adding flights to more than 15 destinations worldwide to keep up with increasing winter travel demand.

A key highlight of the new plan is the addition of another daily flight to London Heathrow, bringing the total to 10 flights per day from its hub at Hamad International Airport (HIA).

This growth in frequency strengthens the travel link between Doha and London, supported by British Airways' two daily flights on the same route.

Thierry Antinori, Chief Commercial Officer of Qatar Airways, noted a steady rise in passenger numbers, especially to popular cities such as London, Dublin, Cape Town, and São Paulo.

"Our continuous addition of another daily flight demonstrates our commitment to providing exceptional travel options through Hamad International Airport, the leading airport in the Middle East,” Antinori said.

The airline also announced new connectivity initiatives, including Virgin Australia's upcoming launch of flights from Melbourne to Doha, increasing to three daily services between the two cities in partnership with Qatar Airways.
