Dhaka: Sri Lankan authorities have organized special arrangements to ensure tourists visiting the country do not face any fuel-related troubles, according to an official notice issued to the country's tourism industry.

The notice came after the Sri Lankan government introduced the Fuel QR quota system for vehicles in response to potential supply disruptions due to the ongoing conflicts in the Middle East.

Officials said they have organized dedicated fuel arrangements for tour operators and hotels to ensure that tourist travel and related activities continue without disruption.

Therefore, tourists visiting Sri Lanka can seamlessly travel across the country without any inconvenience linked to transportation disruptions.
