TAP Air Portugal is celebrating its fourth year of flying from Portugal to the iconic US city of San Francisco.

The airline's first flight into San Francisco was launched on June 10, 2019, with an Airbus A330 neo, enabling customers to reach 'the Golden City' in just under 12 hours.

Customers flying to California with TAP can enjoy competitive fares starting from as little as £390* in Economy Class, and £1988 in Executive Class, including all taxes and charges.

Ricardo Dinis, TAP Air Portugal Country Manager for UK, Ireland and Nordics, said: "We are extremely pleased to be celebrating four successful years of flying between Lisbon and San Francisco, connecting our customers from the UK and beyond to one of our most sought-after US destinations.

“We have seen demand for flights to the West Coast continue to rise thanks to TAP’s extensive North American network with services to six cities across the US, including Boston, Chicago, Miami, New York, Washington D.C and, of course, San Francisco.

“We look forward to welcoming more of our customers onboard our flights to all these amazing destinations so our customers in the UK can connect with family, friends and colleagues through TAP’s easy transfers in Lisbon this summer and throughout the year”.
