

Thai Airways launches Royal Silk Business Class on short-haul routes

- A Monitor Desk Report

Date: 05 December, 2024

Dhaka: Thai Airways is introducing its Royal Silk Business Class on its Airbus A320 aircraft to redefine short-haul travel with more luxury, effective January 2025.

Travellers can indulge in a premium experience on regional routes across Thailand and within Asia, offering enhanced convenience and comfort with spacious cabin space and upgraded amenities, said reports.

The airline's A320 Royal Silk Business Class will feature wide reclinable seats, providing absolute relaxation even on short-haul flights. While the cabins will not include traditional built-in video screens, passengers have access to Thai Vision Connect, the airline's in-flight entertainment system streamed via WiFi directly to their personal devices.

The launch of Business Class on the airline's A320 aircraft is part of a wider effort to embellish its premium service. The airline plans to reintroduce Premium Economy and bring upgrades to its Boeing 787 Business Class cabins.

On longer international routes, Thai's twin-aisle aircraft, comprising the Airbus A330, A350 and Boeing 787, continue to provide passengers with excellent international-grade business and world class service.
