Dhaka: Wings Fly Aviation and Career Development Academy has received National Skills Development Authority (NSDA) certificate.

Under Section 16 (1) of NSDA Act, 2018, Wings Fly Aviation and Career Development Academy has been registered as a Skills Training Provider.

Wings Fly Aviation and Career Development Academy is providing the country's travel sector with expert and skilled personnel.

Aged about a year, the academy, so far, has successfully trained several batches of students on air ticketing and reservation as well as visa processing.

Ferdous Ahmed is the Chairman of Wings Fly Aviation and Career Development Academy, located in the capital's Banasree area.

With 22 students in each batch, so far, over 300 students have graduated from the academy. All of the students who have graduated are either currently working at reputed companies in the travel trade sector or have established themselves as entrepreneurs with their own travel agencies, he said while talking to The Bangladesh Monitor.

Since the academy has an IATA accredited agency on the sidelines named Wings Fly Tours and Travels, students can take IDs from the agency after graduation and run their own agency as entrepreneurs.

According to the chairman, the academy's classrooms are equipped with state-of-the-art amenities, and all the trainers, hailing from renowned companies with over 10 years of work experience, are certified by Bangladesh Technical Education Board.
