The hospital, growing popular year on year among Bangla-deshi patients, specializes in all fields of treatment-from oncology to medicine.

Dr Vigrom informed, cancer is the most prevalent disease among the Bangladeshi patients visiting MedPark. That makes MedPark an ideal choice for Bangladeshi cancer patients, according to him, as the hospital features all the required ultramodern facilities and cutting-edge equipment to treat all sorts of cancer.

"If there is any disease that any other hospital cannot treat, we surely can," he stressed.

He claimed, Bangladeshi patients visiting MedPark are usually seen to suffer from GI cancer, pancreatic cancer, liver cancer, colon cancer, breast cancer, and lung cancer, among others.

"We have expertise in all sorts of cancer treatment," claimed the doctor, adding, "We try to do our best to treat the patients. Our team finds out the best treatment for each patient respectively."

"Each cancer works differently in each patient. Therefore, we offer tailored treatment services to each patient individually. We find the cause of the disease and treat it accordingly," explained the doctor.

"We have special equipment to identify diseases more accurately like cutting-edge scanning machines and surgical oncology items for each body part. There are also state-of-the-art labs for each disease," informed the doctor.

Another best thing about MedPark is that it offers competitive prices for treatment, noted the doctor. The hospital offers high quality treatment at reasonable cost, even cheaper than some hospitals in Thailand, expressed Dr Vigrom.

Apart from cancer, the hospital also specializes in all fields of healthcare-heart, liver, and kidney, among others.

Also, the hospital offers interpreter services to ensure there is no communication gap between the patients and the doctors.

Furthermore, the availability of halal food menu at the hospital makes it an ideal choice for Bangladeshi patients, said the doctor.
