

Saudi's AlUla: Find luxury travel rooted in heritage

- A Monitor Report

Date: 01 January, 2025

Jeddah : AlUla, located in northwest Saudi Arabia, is redefining luxury travel for travelers seeking authentic, meaningful experiences. By offering a unique blend of history, nature, and modern art, AlUla delivers immersive journeys that connect visitors to its rich cultural and natural heritage.

Home to Hegra, Saudi Arabia's first UNESCO World Heritage site, AlUla boasts over 100 ancient Nabataean tombs carved into sandstone cliffs.

Visitors can also explore Jabal Ikmah, an open-air gallery of petroglyphs, and the ruins of the Dadanite and Lihyanite kingdoms.

The region's dramatic landscape includes canyons, volcanic rock formations, and ancient geological layers, offering a deep connection to the Earth's history.

With a commitment to sustainability, luxury resorts like Habitas AlUla and Banyan Tree AlUla offer eco-friendly stays that complement the landscape.
